

ABSTRACT

Biodegradable chelating agents comprising a substituted iminodisuccinic acid having six coordination sites and a simple method for making same are disclosed. The method calls for mixing together an acid anhydride or lactone with a polyfunctional amine to obtain an 5 amide which is further reacted with an amine. The chelating agents are particularly useful for agricultural applications such as fertilizers.

0061521.070800